

DAN McCARTHY

Project Executive

Dan McCarthy brings more than a decade of industry experience in commercial real estate development.

As Carter's local project executive for The Banks, McCarthy will identify and lead new development opportunities and assist Carter's project team on day-to-day execution and project delivery. He will provide support for Carter's construction efforts for Phase II of the project which includes residential, retail, and the development of General Electric's 338,000 square-foot office building.

"The Banks is a transformative project in Cincinnati and Dan is the ideal on-site representative to lead this development through Phase II and beyond," said Scott Stringer, Carter executive vice president. "He is a Cincinnati native with a strong commercial real estate background who has developed and maintained strong industry relationships within the Cincinnati area."

Before joining Carter, McCarthy served as development manager for CORE Resources, Inc., where he was responsible for managing all facets of development for more than 40 projects in eight states. Prior to that, he served as assistant development manager at Eagle Realty Group. He is currently chair of Urban Land Institute (ULI) Cincinnati and has served on its executive committee since 2006.
